

THE BATTLE FOR SANDFORD FARM

HELP US RAISE £10,000 TO FIGHT ON AT PUBLIC INQUIRY

Loddon Valley Action is looking to raise £10,000 to pay for professional representation of its case at a public inquiry into plans to develop the toxic landfill at Sandford Farm with new homes, a care home and other community and commercial buildings. The inquiry has been set to start on Tuesday 23 June for up to six days and follows rejection of the proposals by Wokingham Borough Council members on 8 January. The money will pay for a barrister and the cost of expert witnesses and other professional legal and planning advice.

LVAG has elected to become a formal party to the inquiry. This allows us to present expert opinion through our own legal representative, and to cross-examine the case presented by the developers. It means our arguments will get the hearing they deserve.

LVAG Chairman David Parker explained, "Woodley residents have fought hard over the past six years to prevent the toxic landfill at Sandford Farm being disturbed by new housing. This inquiry is another battle in that war but we need Woodley's help to continue.

"Importantly, the inquiry's greater scope will examine all the issues relevant to the application, and not just the Council's reasons for refusal on the grounds that too many houses are proposed and that their four-storey design is inappropriate to the area.

"That means we can put the dangerous proposals to extract 300,000 cubic metres of contaminated landfill and its four-year onsite remediation within metres of existing homes squarely back on the agenda."

Please come to the meeting on 30 April, hear our case against the development and hand in your completed form (overleaf) and donation. We need just £20.00 from 500 homes in Woodley to reach our target!
